KGHMI has formed a joint venture ("Sierra Gorda JV") with Sumitomo Metal Mining Co. Ltd. and Sumitomo Corporation to develop and operate the Sierra Gorda copper-molybdenum mine in Chile. KGHMI through its subsidiaries in Chile owns 55%. KGHMI has determined that it does not control Sierra Gorda JV notwithstanding the fact that it owns more than 50% of the issued share capital of the Sierra Gorda JV. The owner's council is an independent body responsible for oversight and decision making for the Sierra Gorda JV. The factors that KGHMI considered in making the determination include the KGHMI's right to appoint an equal number of members to the owners' council. The owners' council consists of three representatives from each Joint venture partner. During the year 2016 none of the three members of the owner's council were directors or officers of KGHMI. The three members are directly appointed by KGHM Polska Miedz S.A. (parent company of KGHMI). KGHMI cannot unilaterally control the decision-making and payments for the Sierra Gorda JV and joint venture partners need to agree on decisions at the owner's council. To ensure that the report is transparent in the payments made by the Sierra Gorda JV are included. The Sierra Gorda JV paid taxes of $ 2,090,000 and 460,000 to Tesorería General de la República and $ 470,000 (Federal Government of Chile) to Tesorería Municipal de Sierra Gorda (Municipal Authority).

KGHMI has a USD functional currency for all its subsidiaries that were reportable under ESTMA. The payments reported above were recorded at the exchange rate existing at the time the payment was made and then rounded to the nearest $10,000.

For reference: average exchange rate to convert payments to USD are as below:

Canadian Dollar (CAD) to USD : 1 CAD = 0.73 USD

Canadian Dollar to Chile Pesos (CLP) : 1 CAD= 510 CLP

Payments in Chile are made in Chile Pesos (CLP) and are reported in USD in the above schedule.

Payments in Greenland are made in USD and are reported in USD in the above schedule.
